The University Mace and Batons

The mace and batons are symbols of the authority and history of the University and are made from balusters from the original main staircase of Old Main, erected in 1875, the oldest University building now standing. The batons are carried by members of the faculty who have served as chairs of the Campus Council or the Campus Faculty. The mace is carried by the chief marshal, who is the current chair of the Campus Faculty.

Marshals' Gowns

The gowns worn by the marshals are of the traditional University color, cardinal red.

Honor Stoles

White or cardinal stoles denote students who are candidates for University Honors. Cardinal represents Honors (cum laude) and white represents High Honors (magna cum laude). White stoles with cardinal and white cords represent Highest Honors (summa cum laude).

Academic Regalia

The styles of gowns differentiate degree level. Trim of doctoral gowns indicates nature of degree (black or royal blue — Ph.D.; light blue — Ed.D.). Certain members of the faculty wear distinctive gowns and hoods authorized by their doctoral institutions. The lining of the hood denotes the color(s) of the institution awarding the degree. The official colors of the University of Arkansas are cardinal and white.

The color of the velvet band around the hood designates the academic degree of the wearer. Some examples are listed below:

Agriculture	Maize	Medicine	Green
Architecture	Blue Violet	Music	Pink
Arts and Letters	White	Nursing	Apricot
Business and Bus. Admin.	Drab	Pharmacy	Solid Green
Economics	Copper	Philosophy	Royal Blue
Education	Light Blue	Physical Education	Sage Green
Engineering	Orange	Public Administration	Peacock Blue
Fine Arts	Dark Brown	Public Health	Salmon Pink
Forestry	Russett	Science	Gold
Human Environmental Sciences	Maroon	Social Science	Cream
Humanities	Crimson	Social Work	Citron
Journalism	Crimson	Speech	Silvery Gray
Law	Purple	Theology	Scarlet
Library Science	Lemon Yellow	Veterinary Science	Gray

The University Song

In 1909 a prize of fifty dollars was offered for the best poem relating to the University of Arkansas that should be capable of being set to music and used as a college song. Out of many entries, that of Mr. Brodie Payne '06, of Hot Springs won the prize. The words were set to music by Professor H. D. Tovey, Director of the Conservatory of Music and Art at the University.

Alma Mater

Pure as the dawn on the brow of thy beauty
Watches thy soul from the mountains of God
Over the Fates of thy children departed
Far from the land where their footsteps have trod.
Beacon of Hope in the ways dreary lighted;
Pride of our hearts that are loyal and true;
From those who adore unto one who adores us—
Mother of Mothers, we sing unto you.

We, with our faces turned high to the Eastward
Proud of our place in the vanguard of Truth,
Will sing unto thee a new song of thanksgiving—
Honor to God and the Springtime of Youth.
Shout for the victory or tear for the vanquished;
Sunshine or tempest thy heart is e'er true;
Pride of the hills and the white-laden Lowlands—
Mother of Mothers, we kneel unto you.

Ever the Legions of Sin will assail us,
Even the Battle in Cities afar;
Still in the depth will thy Spirit eternal
Beckon us on like a piloting Star.
Down the dim years do thy dead children call thee,
Wafted to sleep while the Springtime was new;
We, of the Present, thy Hope of the Future—
Mother of Mothers, we pray unto you.

The University Seal

The Seal of the University of Arkansas is affixed to each diploma and is stamped in gold on each diploma cover. The central element in the Seal is the front entrance to Old Main, the oldest building on campus.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT & COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Her Majesty Queen Noor of Jordan

Her Majesty Queen Noor of Jordan was born Lisa Najeeb Halaby to a distinguished Arab-American family and received her bachelor's degree in architecture and urban planning from Princeton University in 1974. Gifted with language, Queen Noor speaks Arabic, English and French.

Queen Noor is internationally recognized as a relentless promoter of education and the arts, a highly respected advocate of women's causes and an indefatigable champion for the well-being of children. Queen Noor is one of the Middle East's leading activists for human rights as well as a protector of the global environment.

Queen Noor is a director on the global board of The Hunger Project, an honorary member of the General Assembly of the SOS-Kinderdorf International and a member of the International Council of the Near East Foundation. She is also a trustee of the Mentor Foundation, working in collaboration with organizations involved in the prevention of substance abuse among youth at the grassroots level.

She is an active patron or president of several national institutions which serve the Jordanian community, including – the Royal Society for the Conservation of Nature, the Petra National Trust, the Royal Society of Fine Arts, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, the National Committee for the Protection of the Environment, the SOS Children's Village Association, the Queen Noor Technical College for Civil Aviation, the Cerebral Palsy Foundation, the Jordanian Physiotherapy Society, the Jordan Tennis Federation and the Women's Sports Club.

In recognition of her efforts to advance regional and international development, democracy and peace, Queen Noor has been awarded numerous honorary doctorates in international relations, law and humane letters, as well as international awards.

Queen Noor helped establish the Noor Al Hussein Foundation (NHF) to consolidate the administration of the Queen's diverse and expanding development initiatives. The foundation initiates and supports national, regional and international projects in the fields of integrated community development, education, culture, children's welfare, family health, women and enterprise development.

NHF projects promote individual and community self-reliance, grassroots participation in decision-making and project implementation, as well as equal opportunity with special emphasis on the empowerment of women and intersectoral co-operation.

The NHF, in co-operation with the Jordanian Government and United Nations and international organizations, has designed and implemented innovative projects and programs sensitive to local values and traditions. The NHF has received international recognition for providing development models for the Middle East and the developing world – the Quality of Life Project, the Women-in-Development Project, the Institute for Child Health and Development, the Jubilee School, the National Handicrafts Development Project, the National Music Conservatory and the Performing Arts Center.

Queen Noor is the president of the United World Colleges, a network of ten equal-opportunity international colleges around the world fostering cross-cultural understanding and global peace.

She is chair of the advisory board of the Center for the Global South at American University, which examines critical issues affecting the poorer developing countries of the world. She chairs the international advisory committee for the United Nations University International Leadership Academy, the first global leadership training facility, as well as the first UN institution to be initiated and established in the Middle East.

The relationship of the University of Arkansas with Jordan and other Middle Eastern countries has grown stronger over the past few years. Jordan has graciously hosted large delegations of faculty members and students every year since 1994.

One of the University's many connections with the Middle East is its King Fahd Middle East Studies program, which conducts faculty-student exchanges with Jordan.

The University sponsors an archaeological field school in Jordan each summer in collaboration with Yarmouk University, where faculty and students have been working on projects at the archaeological site in northern Jordan for nearly seven years.

The University of Arkansas also signed an agreement with the Royal Jordanian Geographic Center whereby university experts from its Department of Geosciences and the Center for Advanced Spatial Technology worked jointly with specialists from the Royal Center on projects in remote sensing, geographic information systems, and geographic positioning system.

The University's Department of Sociology conducted a three-year project of faculty exchanges with Yarmouk University between 1996 and 1999. Last spring, the Department of Sociology and the Public Administration Program at the University of Arkansas sent students and faculty from Arkansas to research and conduct studies in urban development in Jordan's major cities.

The University of Arkansas provides generous assistantships and scholarships to numerous outstanding Jordanian students. Outside of obvious academic opportunities, this gives both American and Jordanian students opportunities to interact personally and promotes collegiate access to a different culture.

Middle East Studies brings together an interdisciplinary unit that offers studies in cultures, geography, history, politics, as well as Arabic language and literature including translation, poetry, women and gender, minorities and contemporary issues.

The outreach component of Middle East Studies organizes workshops on the Middle East for schoolteachers in Arkansas and Oklahoma and sponsors Elderhostel symposia and model Arab League simulations for high school and college students.

The academic and public outreach activities of the Middle East Studies program at the J. William Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences and other University of Arkansas programs bring the mission of Queen Noor – in the areas of social welfare, education, culture, women's development, environmental protection, architecture, planning and international understanding – closer to reality.

Before she married His Majesty King Hussein in 1978, she traveled throughout the Arab world to research aviation training facilities for the preparation of a master plan for an Arab University to be established in Jordan.

In 1979, Queen Noor chaired the National Committee for the International Year of the Child and actively launched a national immunization campaign, children's parks and literature programs, as well as an initiative to establish Jordan's first children's hospital. She also established the Royal Endowment for Culture and Education (RECE), which conducted the first development research on the country's specific manpower needs. The RECE provides scholarships for students, with special emphasis on enabling outstanding women to pursue their graduate studies in fields vital to Jordan's future development.

In 1980, Queen Noor convened the first Arab Children's Congress, which annually brings together young representatives throughout the Arab world in a program designed to promote understanding and solidarity.

In 1981, Queen Noor, with a group of Jordanian philanthropists, faculty and students from Yarmouk University in northern Jordan, founded the Jerash Festival for Culture and Arts to promote Jordanian, Arab and international cultural and artistic interaction at one of Jordan's most important archaeological sites.

In 1984, the Queen assumed responsibility for the implementation of an educational project to commemorate His Majesty King Hussein's Silver Jubilee. The Jubilee School, an independent co-educational secondary school, was established in 1993 to develop the academic and leadership potential of outstanding scholarship students from the country and the region, with special emphasis on students from less developed areas of Jordan.

The School's Center for Excellence in Education advances national and regional standards through the development of innovative curricula, training programs, and workshops for public and private school teachers.

The National Music Conservatory was initiated by Queen Noor in 1985 to develop accomplished musicians in classical Arabic and Western music, fostering music appreciation and promoting teacher training and public school music curricula in Jordan. In 1985, she introduced the National Handicrafts Development Project to revive and preserve a unique aspect of Jordan's national heritage.

In 1986, Queen Noor launched Jordan's and the Arab World's first children's museum with the Children's Heritage and Science Museum, and in 1988, the Mobile Life and Science Museum was introduced as an outreach program for the children's museum targeting young people in rural areas. Using computers, books, exhibits and hands-on educational and recreational activities, young children learn about environmental protection, health, the sciences and Jordan's history.

In 1995, His Majesty King Hussein directed Queen Noor to establish and chair the National Task Force for Children. The NTFC's mission is to monitor and evaluate the condition of Jordan's children in accordance with Arab and international conventions on the rights of the child and the national plan of action for children. In 1997, the NTFC established the National Coalition for Children as a forum to coordinate and promote partnership among specialists, and public and private institutions.

Internationally, Queen Noor is patron of The World Conservation Union, the oldest international conservation organization in the world, honorary president of BirdLife International, the widest global network of conservation organizations, and board member of the World Wildlife Fund. In 1995, she received the United Nations Environment Program Global 500 Award for her activism in environmental protection, in promoting awareness and in initiating community action for the preservation of Jordan's natural heritage.

In 1994, Queen Noor, a member of the International Commission on Peace and Food, presented the results of the five-year international research program "Uncommon Opportunities: An Agenda For Peace And Equitable Development" to the United Nations Secretary General Boutros Boutros-Ghali for adoption. The report presented practical strategies to accelerate political stability, ensure food security and employment, promote human development and help protect the environment.

Since the death of Princess Diana, she has become involved as a leader in the effort to ban the use of land mines. She is patron of Landmine Survivors Network and a member of the international advisory board for the Nobel Prize winning International Campaign to Ban Landmines.

Her Majesty Queen Noor is a passionate supporter of cancer research and chairs Jordan's first comprehensive cancer center, the Al Amal Cancer Center. She was recently elected as an American Cancer Society Foundation trustee for a period of one year, ending in November 2001.
